m on\ Friday\ it\ has\ secured}$ multiple bridgeheads on the eastern bank of the Dnieper River in the Kherson region in fighting it described as having left nearly 3,500 Russians killed or wounded and dozens of ammunition depots, tanks, armoured vehicles and other weaponry destroyed.

The Marine Infantry Command's claims are the first to come directly from the Ukrainian military about advances across one of Russia's most significant strategic barriers. Earlier this week, Andriy Yermak, head of the president's office, confirmed for the first time that Ukraine had established a foothold on the eastern side of the river.

The wide river is a natural dividing line along the south-ern battlefront and Moscow's forces have used it since leav ing the area around the city of Kherson in November 2022 to prevent Ukrainian troops from advancing further toward Russian-annexed Crimea.

Western officials with knowledge of intelligence, speaking on condition of anonymity to discuss the sensitive information, said on Thursday that Ukraine has portions of three brigades across the river and was expected to make small gains as Russians have so far been unable to repel them.

"The Ukrainians have seen an opportunity there and taken it," one official said. "What we've not seen is the Russians being able to push them back from that position."

The Associated Press could not independently confirm the Ukrainian reports that it has established a foothold on the eastern bank of the Dnieper River or its battlefield claims.

Ukraine provided no timeline for how long it took to establish its position on the eastern bank. Its forces have crossed the river in small groups since the summer to create a foothold near the

Russian lawmakers approve budget with record for defense spending London (AP): The lower domestic impact of pivoting tions, we have managed to house of Russia's parliament, the State Duma, approved a federal budget Friday that increases spending by around 25 per cent in 2024 and devotes a record amount to defense. The budget for 2024-2026 was developed specifically to fund the Russian military and to mitigate the impact of 17,500 sanctions" on Russia, State Duma Chairman Vyacheslav Volodin said.

Under the spending plan, the country's largest ever, defense spending is expected to overtake social spending next year for the first time in modern Russian history. The development comes as the Kremlin is eager to shore up support for President Vladimir Putin before a March presidential election. Record low unemployment, higher wages and target-ed social spending should help the Kremlin ride out the Kherson bridge, and more recently sought to expand their presence in nearby villages on the east bank.

The gains that could open up a path to Crimea are considered small in the overall ground war, which intelligence officials said was essentially at a standstill despite a Ukrainian counteroffensive that had once been expected to alter the momentum.

"Neither side is currently capable of mounting decisive offensive operations on the land in the foreseeable future," one official said. Ukraine is struggling off the battlefield for support from allies as the world's attention has turned to Israel's war against Hamas militants on the Gaza Strip. A US funding package passed on Thursday included no additional aid for the economy to a war footing but could pose a problem in the long term, analysts say.

The budget "is about getting the war sorted in Ukraine and about being ready for a military confrontation with the West in perpetuity," Richard Connolly, an expert on Russia's military and economy at the Royal United Services Institute in London, has said. 'This amounts to the wholesale remilitarization of Russian society," he said.

The Russian Communist Party voted against the budget, criticising what it described as 'low pensions" and not enough financial support for elderly people, Russian state news agency Tass said.

The budget will now go to the Federation Council - the upper chamber of Russia's parliament — for approval and eventually to Putin for signing. "In these difficult condi-

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in a meeting with British Foreign Secretary David Cameron on Wednesday lamented that the divided attention on two wars in the world had not helped his cause.

Cameron, a former UK prime minister who was appointed to the post in a surrise announcement this week, was in Kyiv on his first diplomatic trip to show his support for Ukraine. But the visit came with no additional promise of military funds.

Ukraine said its troops killed more than 1,200 Russian soldiers and wounded more than 2,200 in a series of operations to establish its position on the eastern riverbank. It said funds for our country's defense, but which will also provide all the required funds to guarantee the state's social obligations," State Duma First Deputy Chairman Alexander Zhukov said, according to Tass. Russia's Finance Ministry said it expects spending to reach 36.66 trillion rubles (around USD 411 billion) in 2024, with a predicted budget deficit of 0.8 per cent of Russia's gross domestic product. Part of the Russian budget is secret as the Kremlin tries to conceal its military plans and sidestep scrutiny of its war in Ukraine. Independent busi ness journalists Farida Rustamova and Maksim Tovkaylo said on their Telegram channel, Faridaily, that around 39 per cent of all federal spending will go to defense and law enforcement in 2024

Ukraine did not disclose the number of its own casualties. When news of Ukraine's advances across the river were reported earlier in the week, the Moscow-appointed governor for the Russia-occupied part of the Kherson region, Vladimir Saldo, said Ukrainian forces were facing a "fiery hell" in fighting in the village of Krynky and were being destroyed "on a large scale".

Šaldo said on Telegram that Ukraine had lost up to two battalions crossing the river and trying to maintain their hold on the east bank. Those claims could not be independently verified.

Islamabad (PTI): Imran Khan will register a case in the US against State Department official Donald Lu if the jailed former prime minister doesn't get justice from Pakistani courts, his sister Aleema Khan has said.

Khan, the 71-year-old chairman of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party is currently detained in Adiala jail in Rawalpindi on judicial remand in the cipher case.

The purported cipher (secret diplomatic cable) contained an account of a meeting between US State Department officials, including Assistant Secretary of State for the Bureau of South & Central Asian Affairs Donald Lu and Pakistani envoy Asad Majeed Khan last year. Khan, who served as prime minister of Pakistan from August 2018 to April 2022, is accused of misusing the contents of the cipher to build a narrative that his government was ousted due to a conspiracy hatched by the US, a charge repeatedly denied by Washington. The PTI chief's sister made the comment in a press conference after meeting him in the Adiala Jail, Geo News reported on Friday.

"Chairman PTI said if he does not get justice from Pakistani courts, then they would file a case against Donald Lu in US courts,' Aleema was quoted as saying in the report. She added that the party believes that the US embassy in Pakistan was involved in the conspiracy to topple Khan's government. On Tuesday, the Islamabad High Court (IHC) issued a stay order against Khan in the case, seeking information about the "circumstances" that prompted the trial to be conducted in a high-security Rawalpindi prison. Aleema said that the HC issued a stay order, and those clauses were added in the case that can lead to a death sentence or life imprisonment.

"We should be told what crime was committed by the PTI chairman that such clauses were added. Rana Sanaullah (Pakistan's former federal minister for interior) registered a case against the PTI chairman [we] should get justice in Pakistan," she said.

global leaders'

"These conflicts call for an urgent need to create genuine trust and mutual respect among the warring nations and involved international actors," Hasina said during the virtual address of two-day 2nd Voice of Global South Summit hosted by her Indian counterpart Narendra Modi.

The Bangladesh premier particularly expressed her profound concern at the "tragic, inhuman existence of the hapless Palestinians in the face of merciless carnage" and said: "It is time for all of us to unite as one world and demand the end of the conflict". The summit titled "Together for Everyone's Growth with Everyone's Trust' drew participants from 125 countries.

Hasina joined the event virtually from her Ganobhaban official residence here.She regretted that Global South was being exposed to hardships and new challenges as "there have now appeared sanctions and counter-sanctions" due to trust deficit. "In this critical time, the world must unite as one and strengthen 'Everyone's Trust' to achieve 'Everyone's Growth," the premier said.

Hasina said the mutual trust and enhanced global unity appeared more crucial as "our world is plagued with unbearable poverty, undesirable inequality, intolerable terrorism, and the catastrophic threat of climate change".

The premier appreciated Prime Minister Modi for convening the "2nd Voice of the Global South Summit 2023' and for "constantly raising the voice of the Global South all through the G20 Presidency"

Hasina said the Global South was poised to play a pivotal role in shaping the future of this hemisphere as "we are often vulnerable to various socio-economic challenges".

Khadija Shah, Gen Asif Nawaz Janjua's granddaughter and a fashion designer by profession, was detained for a period of 30 days under the Maintenance of Public Order (MPO) ordinance as soon as she came out of Lahore's Kot Lakhpat Jail in Punjab province. "Her release may cause a lawand-order situation in the province," the Punjab police said. Shah had been in jail for the last six months in connection with attacks on the Lahore Corps Commander House and the plaza owned by the son of former army chief Gen Qamar

Iaved Baiwa here. At least 10,000 Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaaf (PTI) leaders and workers were arrested across the country for allegedly attacking and setting ablaze the state and military installations including the army's headquarters in Rawalpindi and the ISI building in Faisalabad city on May 9 following the cricketer-turned-politician's arrest in a corruption case by the

National Accountability Bureau (NAB)

Shah got bail in all four terrorism cases and the anti-terrorism court of Lahore on Friday ordered her immediate release. However, as she walked free from jail, a heavy contingent of police reached outside the Kot Lakhpat Jail and arrested her in a public order ordinance. The Lahore deputy commissioner has issued her detention order.

Meanwhile, Shah has been booked in another terrorism case related to the May 9 vio-lence in Peshawar. The rearrest of May 9 suspects has become a new normal in Pakistan as PTI President Chaudhry Parvez Elahi and dozens of other leaders are among those who secured bail in a number of terrorism cases related to the "Black Day" violence but re-arrested as soon as they walked out of jail.

Earlier, Shah had written an open letter from jail seeking "empathy and humanity" for the party's 19 women prisoners including herself. Shah said she had been incarcerated for over four months for "peacefully participating" in the May 9 protest. "Each PTI woman prisoner at Kot Lakhpat Jail Lahore has borne unimaginable punishment," she said. Writing about the plight of 18 "innocent women" imprisoned alongside her, Shah said: "These women prisoners have no access to the world and are unable to share their plight; their families desperately struggling to balance the demands of life without them."

"The women incarcerated with me have suffered unbearable circumstances, and they are waiting for the world to take notice and speak for them. These 18 women in captivity are not just 18 women. They are 18 homes, 18 families, and countless lives completely shattered and at a standstill. I want to share the tragedy that is unfolding with each passing day to elicit the empathy and humanity that must exist in us all," the letter read.

Remove names of Pak doc's kin from exit control list: Top court

Peshawar (PTI): A top Pakistani court has ordered to remove from the Exit Control List the names of the wif and children of Dr Shakil Afridi, incarcerated since 201 for helping the CIA track down al-Qaeda chief Osama bin Laden in Pakistan's garrison city of Abbottabad. A single-member bench of the Peshawar HC issued the order on Thursday on a writ petition filed by Imrana Shakil, Afridi's wife. The exit control list (ECL) is a list of people prohibited from leaving Pakistan for varied legal reasons. Arif Jan Afridi, petitioner's counsel informed the court that his client has been arrested or spying charges for the USA and sentenced to 23 year imprisonment by different courts in Pakistan. "No crime has been proved against my client Imrana Shakil. Neithe
